NEWS FROM NEW-JERSEY.

JERSEY CITY.

The Rev. William H. Russell, pastor of the James Methodist Episcopal Church, whose quarrels with Samuel C. Lowndes, the treasurer of the church, have been public property lately, yesterday gave notice that he had applied to the Annual Conference, which will meet on April 4, to be removed to another church, and preached his farewell sermon. He said that he was conscious that he had done his duty, and eared no charges that might be brought against him. The church was crippled through its troubles, but half the effort made to injure it, if exerted in its behalf, would have made it exceedingly prosperous. He made only two direct references to the roubles. He said that the reversal of the conchurch, was made by the Quarterly Conference with church, was made by the Quarterly Conference with-out evidence, while the committee that had con-victed him had heard all the testimony and sifted it thoroughly. He also said that charges had been preferred to the Annual Conference against the Rev. Dr. Croig, counsel for Lowndes, who had advised the Janes congregation to starve its pastor out. He also said that he left the church in much better ondition than when he found it.

James Martle, forty-three years old, of No. 23 Jay-st., was taken to the Jersey City Hospital suffering from seven wounds in the head and body, which he said were inflicted with a bedslat. He had been beaten, be alleged, by his wife, his wife's brother and his mother-in-law, but he refused to make a complaint against them.

County Physician Johnson has ordered Coroner own to hold an inquest in the case of William Newman, seven years old, who died at his parents' home on Linden-st., Passaic, on Saturday. The boy was taken sick on Thursday, and almost immediately began to vont. From that time until he died, the retching and vomiting was almost continuous. Dr. Frank Hadley was the attending physician, and refused to grant a certificate. He was led to take this step by the fact that other children in the same family had died after brief illness, in which the symptoms were exactly similar. There are suspicions of poison.

SOUTH ORANGE.

A curious bit of history has been brought to light South Orange to a Western syndicate. When the lawyers came to search the title no deeds were found on record, and they were compelled to go to the owner for evidence of ownership. The history is an interesting one. Early in 1978, at a town meeting held in Newark, a resolution was passed that each of the freeholders should go up on the Newark Joseph Brown, acting on the resolution, took a farm on the mountain. By his will, made in 1694, the property was left to his three sons, from one of whom, Joseph, the recent owners of the property inherited it. A deed was not recorded on the property until 1812, when Joseph Brown bought out the in terest of his brothers and sisters in the property, on put on record, and have been the only instruments recorded on the property. It is believed that ments recorded on the property. It is opened that it the only piece of property in the county which has this unbroken line of succession, and which has never been deeded. The property stood in the Brown family name till 1840, when Abijah Tillou married Miss Pamelia Brown, the helress of the property. This brought the property into the Tillou family, where it has remained ever since.

HACKENSACK.

A number of brickmakers in James W. Gillies's yard near Little Ferry were shooting for a box of beer vesterday morning, when Kenmore Russell, employed by the New-York, Susquehanna and Western Railroad, took the pistol, saying, "I'll show you how to shoot."
The weapon was instantly discharged and Valentine Luroni fell to the ground. Russell dropped the pistol and ran through the woods toward Moonachie swamp. Luroni was taken to the Hackensack Hospital in an ambulance. It is supposed that the bullet passed through Luroni's lung and lodged near the spinal column. The man was too weak to admit of examination last night. The fact that Russell ran gave rise to the belief that the shooting was intentional, but the men now say it was purely accidental. Lu-roni's condition is critical.

Kane was insensible when the police arrived, but revived and was able to walk to the station house. He made a formal complaint against Hagan. He was then placed in an ambulance and taken to st. Johns Haspital. Upon arriving there he was examined by house surgeon Stewart, who pronounced his injury dangerous. Dr. Stewart is of the opinion that Kane will die.

STATEN ISLAND.

STAPLETON.—The members of a little German street band created a small riot in the Stapleton station on the Staten Island Rapid Transit Railroad while waiting for a New-York train late on Saturday night. One of the musicians insulted a woman and it was quickly resented by her escort. Then several of the band pounced upon the gallant young man. A number of men then took a hand in the free fight. The musicians were overpowered and took to their heels, leaving their instruments lying on the station platform.

HE SEARCHED BRAZIL FOR HIS MAN.

CAPTAIN HENRY TELLS HOW HE FOUND AND CAPTURED H. A. BOTSFORD.

capture and return to this country from Brazil of the two embezziers, A. A. Cadwallader, of West Superior, Wis., and H. A. Botsford, of Philadel-phia, were told in The Tribune yesterday. Captain C. E. Henry, a detective in the employ of the American Surety Company, who found the embezzlers and arrested them, gave an interesting account of the capture of Botsford in the interior of Brazil to a Tribune reporter at the Holland House last evening.

"I left home on the 18th of last December," began Captain Henry, "for Rio de Janlero, whither we believed Botsford had gone. Arriving there I called on our minister, Mr. Conger. He had received papers from the State Department relating to the extradition of Botsford. The papers instructed Mr. Conger to ask for the arrest and delivery of the fugitive. Conger to ask for the arrest and delivery of the fugitive, but Trangely enough they gave no promise of doing a like act with fugitives in the United States from Frazil. Mr. Conger was told that the Brazilian Government would deliver Botsford if the United States would deliver men, then in Boston, who had fled from Brazil. The Minister had no power to do this. He explained the condition of affairs, and it was finally agreed that Botsford should be given up, it being expected that fugitives from Brazil would be returned by our Government.

by our Government.
"In the mean time I had been trying to locate Botsford. From passengers coming to Brazil with him I learned that he was in the State of Sao Paulo. One of these passengers sent me to Matto Dentoro, in that State, and said I would find my man there under the name of Ford. On my way thither I accidentally discovered on a book of a hotel the name of H. B. Ford, December 27. This was at name of H. B. Ford, December 27. Into was at Campenas, which is on the way into the coffee country. Inquiries developed beyond a doubt the identity of this man Ford. It was said that the man had been looking at coffee hullers, but had gone on beyond the railroad with his wife. From an officer at Mogy Mirim I learned that a man known as Hendrick had bought a coffee fizenda near Jaquet-ingo and had just married a French girl of good character. Other people in the neighborhood knew this Hendrick. They said he carried a long knife and a pistol and that he was a bad man. At Jaquetingo I had the scruce of the Justice of Right, who ordered the officer called 'the delegate' to make the arrest and to deliver my man to the proper authorities, who world convey him back to Rio. Accordingly a detail of fifteen men was sent out at night to make the capture. Botsford's place was in the high hills. Even the soldiers of the detail feared this man whom they called Hendrick, and were cautious. We came upon the house in the carly morning. It was near the top of the mountain.

The soldlers surrounded the house. Butsford I pointed out to the men before he had seen me. His wife, a pretty little woman, fainted as the men marched her busband out and put him on a horse. Botsford asked me if my name was not Captain Henry. He said he had seld me lumber years before. He wanted me to demiss the guard and to sit down with him and talk. He said he could settle up matters with Gray, Jenks & Co. and would be able to pay them all he had taken from them in a few years. I told him I was not there to settle matters, but to bring him home for others to do consideration in getting him out of the country. A chivalrous spirit among the brazilians showed itself in the behalf of this young French girl. 1 let the people know, however, that Botsford had a wife and daughter in his own country, and that he had deeply wronged the girl whom he had married there. As we came away by train his young wife came to bid him goodby, and a most affecting scene took place.

Both Cadwallader and Botsford are now confined in the Ludlow Street Jail. They refused absolutely to say anything in regard to their arrest. Cadwallader will be taken by Special Treasury Avent Drummend to Wisconsin, probably to morrow, while Captain Henry will take Botsford to Philadelphia.
